WITH THE SUPPORT OF

The project SAVE was born of the encounter between the CCEM and several Moroccan civil society organisations, between 2016 and 2017. The Law 27-14, relative to the fight against trafficking in human beings had recently been adopted by Morocco.

The project SAVE thus developed from needs expressed by specialised local ground actors, all of which being first line organisations in the process of providing assistance to victims of trafficking in human beings for labour exploitation.

The project SAVE's final objective is to reinforce the operational and technical capacities of the partner Moroccan organisations to identify victims of trafficking in human beings for labour exploitation, and then, in a second time, to provide the latter with specialized individual legal assistance. This objective will be reached by implementing direct field actions towards victims, by organization training and capacity building program and finally by providing local partners with operational support on victims' legal assistance.

CCEM has a 25 years proven expertise in defending victims of trafficking in France and building cases against perpetrators. It has played a leading role in the evolution of the French legislation on the matter. First extra-European action of the association, SAVE aims at sharing this reputed expertise in one of the principal country of origin for the victims it in France assists each year.

CCEM's local partners in this project all specialize in defending the rights of the most vulnerable individuals: women victim of violence, domestic workers, precarious workers, children in street situations, migrant workers... Their presence in 5 regions of the country and at the national level is an additional guarantee for the project to have a broad and long lasting impact for the concerned individuals, all made invisible by exploitation.
